ABOUT THE ARTIST

Soloist, chamber musician, master teacher, and recording artist, Lois Brandwynne represents the fourth generation in a family of professional musicians. At Mills College, she studied piano with revered Russian coach Alexander Libermann and the great Dutch pianist Egon Petri, and composition with composers Darius Milhaud and Leon Kirchner. Awarded two successive traveling music fellowships from UC Berkeley, she has coached with eminent pianists Leonard Shure in New York and Alfred Brendel in Vienna. She has soloed with the San Francisco and Oakland Symphonies and the San Francisco Chamber Orchestra and given recitals in the United States and Europe to critical acclaim. A known enthusiast of contemporary music, she has premiered many works by American composers, and her work as a chamber musician is equally extensive. She has performed at Music at the Vineyards and the Claremont and Cabrillo Music Festivals and has given chamber music recitals with concert artists including violist Walter Trampler, flutist Doriot Anthony Dwyer, violinist Zina Schiff, and cellists Bonnie Hampton and Emil Miland.
