International Students and Employment
As a student in F-1 status, you may be eligible to work on-campus up to 20 hours per week during the academic year, and full-time during school vacation periods. Curricular Practical Training (CPT) permits F-1 status students to take a job directly related to their field of study. Optional Pracical Training (OPT) gives an F-1 student the opportunity to apply what they have learned in a degree program through off-campus employment after completion of all degree requirements. Employment approval takes at least 90 days, so careful planning is required. For more information and to determine your eligibility for F-1 employment, please contact Services for International Students and Scholars (SISS) at siss.ucdavis.edu

Learn How to Network and Conduct Informational Interviews
Career advisers will always say the best way to find a job is to network! Begin inquiring about the types of career opportunities you are seeking with your professors, lecturers, alumni, and working artists. Next, conduct informational interviews to learn about careers and grow your network. Attend a Work of Art Workshop or visit the Internship and Career Center to enhance your networking skills and learn how to conduct informational interviews at icc.ucdavis.edu/find/resources/networking/informational-interviews
Complete an Internship
An internship or a volunteer opportunity will develop your skills and help you discover career opportunities. The experience will greatly enhance your resume by displaying your relevant experience and exposure to the world of art beyond the classroom.

Complete a Research Project
The UC Davis Undergraduate Research Center - urc.ucdavis.edu - empowers students to find research opportunities and provides resources to hone the skills that are vital to success as a researcher. From scientific experiments to the scholarly analysis of literature, doing research is an ideal way to improve your future career prospects. Hands-on experience can help you narrow your interests and identify your aptitudes. If you are sure of your goals, it can provide you with skills that will be valued by employers and allow you to interact more closely with faculty mentors. Faculty will know your work and can provide future references.

Join a Design Related Student Club or Organization
Involvement in student clubs and organizations can greatly enhance your awareness of focus areas and careers related to design. The Design Careers Club at UC Davis hosts annual internship networking events and a design career fair. Learn more by searching Facebook for: @designcareersclub. More information on other design related organizations can be found here: arts.ucdavis.edu/design-student-clubs

Join a Professional Association
Before and after you graduate, keep in touch with the design world by joining an association related to your area of interest. An association membership will help you transition your identity from a student to a working professional, and provide the opportunity to discover career opportunities and enhance your network.

GRADUATE EDUCATION

UC Davis Pre-Graduate / Professional School Advising and Workshops success.ucdavis.edu/grad-prof

UC Davis Masters of Fine Arts (MFA) Program in Design
The UC Davis MFA in Design unites theory and practice. This two-year program encourages an interdisciplinary approach. Design faculty expertise includes design theory and exhibition, fashion, history, interior architecture, lighting, textiles, and visual communication (environmental, information, print and screen-based) design.

Key Areas include: exhibition design, fashion design, history and theory of design, interior architecture, lighting design, textiles and visual communication design.

The goal of the MFA in Design is to provide advanced studies in design research. Studio faculty have expertise in visual communication (environmental, information, print and screen-based), exhibition, fashion, history, interior architecture, lighting, and textiles. Other faculty specialize in the history and theory of design, predominantly from the nineteenth century to the present, paying close attention to interpreting design within its social, political and ideological contexts. Graduate studies allows you to take seminars and work with faculty across these areas of design while exploring your own particular studio-based research, which might primarily address one of the above areas or cross back and forth between them. Graduates will be prepared for careers in both academia and professional practice.

For more information please visit the UC Davis Department of Design MFA Program in Design webpage: arts.ucdavis.edu/general-information/mfa-program-design
The College Art Association - collegeart.org - publishes Graduate Programs in the Visual Arts, comprehensive resources of schools across the United States, Canada, the United Kingdom, Australia, and New Zealand. These list over 650 programs in fine art and design, art and architectural history, arts administration and supply everything a prospective graduate student needs to know before beginning the application process.
