Applications are invited for:

TEMPORARY LECTURER POSITION IN ART HISTORY
UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, DAVIS

Fall 2016 (September 19 – December 9), Lecturer for AHI 163B. Chinese Painting. Lecture—3 hours; term paper or gallery studies and review. The unique form of ink painting, with or without colors, depicting human and animal figures, flowers-and-birds, and landscape—the favorite and enduring theme of the Chinese scholar-painter. GE credit: ArtHum, Div, Wrt | AH, VL, WC, WE. This is a ten-week upper-division undergraduate course. Lectures are held twice weekly. Instructor supervises Course Grader.

A Ph.D. in Art History is preferred, A.B.D. considered; prior teaching experience desirable. Salary is dependent on qualifications.

Application deadline: June 15, 2016, or until the position is filled.

Please apply online at https://recruit.ucdavis.edu/apply/JPF01030 and submit the following materials:

- Curriculum vitae
- Proposed course outline
- Teaching evaluations or letter evaluating teaching from a supervisor/department chair
- Contact information for three references

Proof of citizenship or eligibility for US employment required prior to employment (Immigration Reform and Control Act of 1986).

The University of California is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer.